Geneva, 27 September 2023

60th anniversary greetings to Divinity School of Chung Chi College, Chinese University of Hong Kong from the general secretary of the World Council of Churches, Rev. Prof. Dr Jerry Pillay

Dear Director Yip,

On behalf of the World Council of Churches, our member churches around the world, and our ecumenical theological education programme, I join the chorus of congratulations to you, to the Board of Trustees, and to the faculty and students of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College on this, the 60th anniversary of your founding.

As the only Chinese divinity school housed in a public university, educating students for ministerial and scholarly and other professional positions, DSCCC occupies an important, indeed unique position in the academic, professional, and cultural contexts of Hong Kong and Chinese Christianity generally.

Especially gratifying for us at the World Council of Churches is the fully ecumenical and catholic spirit that has animated the divinity school from its beginnings. Ecumenical theological education demands and nurtures a true openness to learning from each other and from the many historical and contemporary religious traditions represented in society. We salute you and your supporting denominations for your commitment to that honest and earnest exploration of faith and faith traditions. Through such critical appropriation of our faith, the Apostle Paul assures us, you will be “transformed by the renewing of your mind” (Rom. 12:2).

Of course, these are uncertain times for Hong Kong and therefore for the university and its divinity school. Yet DSCCC’s eminent clarity of purpose—serving the churches, fellow Christians, and the larger society—firmly anchors your programme. It resides in and contributes simultaneously to the tradition of the academic study of religion, to the centuries-old Christian tradition of disciplined theological reflection, and to the equally longstanding and vital tradition of preparing a learned and caring clergy.

This profile and these traits are well exhibited not only in the faculty appointments and degree programmes of the school but also in the symposium programme that the DSCCC is sponsoring to celebrate its 60th anniversary. They position the school well for the future and for tackling the complex social, cultural, and religious challenges we all face.

So, as you celebrate this important milestone at DSCCC, I send our sincere prayers and fervent hopes: May the creative love of God our Father, the redemptive love of Christ the Son, and the empowering love of the Spirit of Life continue to inspire, bless, and guide the Divinity School as it embarks on its next sixty years!

Dear all,

On behalf of The Salvation Army, it is my pleasure to join with so many in offering words of congratulation for the 60 years rendered in serving the Kingdom of God.

A vision seeded over six decades ago has laid a foundation which we celebrate today. Driven by the desire to honor both the integrity of God's word and give credence to one's cultural roots has played a significant part in maximizing the impact of the Church in Hong Kong and across Asia.

These words come with the prayer that the ministry of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College will continue to shape the church within Hong Kong and beyond.

Congratulatory Message to Divinity School of Chung Chi College

On behalf of the United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia, it is with great joy that I extend my warmest congratulations to the Divinity School of Chung Chi College of the Chinese University of Hong Kong on the occasion of its 60th anniversary. This significant milestone is a testament to the Divinity School's unwavering commitment to nurturing "Servants with Discernment" for ministry in churches and positions of service to serve God's kingdom on earth.

Throughout the years, the United Board has had the privilege of partnering with the Divinity School in various endeavors aimed at advancing Christian higher education and affirm our Christian presence in Asia. One of the most notable collaborations has been through the Institute for Advanced Study in Asian Cultures and Theologies (IASACT), an initiative that has brought together promising early-career academics and researchers for an annual residential program at the School. This program has not only fostered valuable themed research but has also created a scholarly network among the participants.

As we celebrate this significant anniversary, let us also acknowledge the profound impact the Divinity School has had on its students and on theological education. The School's emphasis on service, pan-denominational collaboration, and integration of theological theory with ministerial practice has empowered its graduates steeped in Christian values to make a difference in the world, bringing hope, healing, and reconciliation to those in need. The Divinity School's legacy is one of transformation and empowerment, and the United Board is honored to have been part of this journey.

To Professor Francis Yip, Director of the Divinity School, and its faculty, staff, students, and alumni, we sincerely wish that this 60th anniversary may serve as a reminder of the remarkable achievements and milestones you have reached, and inspire you to continue your important work of preparing servant leaders who will shape the future of the churches and society.

The United Board stands ready to support and work together with you as you serve your mission. Together, let us continue to nurture hearts and minds, promote scholarly excellence, and build bridges of understanding across diverse cultures and faith traditions.

On behalf of the Association for Theological Education in Southeast Asia, I join the Divinity School of Chung Chi College (DSCCC), the Chinese University of Hong Kong in praising God on the occasion of its 60th years of theological engagement in Hong Kong and beyond.

With its special niche in a public university, DSCCC has elevated the image of theology to the status of sciences through the years by offering another dimension of knowledge in search for truth. Such an orientation in theological formation has prepared students to meet the contemporary issues and challenges facing the church and society.

I wish the leadership of the seminary, its faculty, staff, and students God's blessings as they continue to commit themselves to the rigor of seminary education which aims for reconciliation and transformation of the world in times such as these.

Dear Colleagues,

I extend my heartiest congratulations on the 60th anniversary of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. You have become one of the—if not the—leading divinity school in Asia and the East. You have done this during a period that has been marked by geo-political turmoil which makes your accomplishment even more impressive. I am very grateful that we have an exchange program with you and are able to share students. I look forward to collaborating with you in the future. May the next 60 years be as productive as the first 60 have been.

With my congratulations and very best wishes,

Congratulations on the 60th Anniversary of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College!

On behalf of Harvard Divinity School, I want to extend my heartfelt congratulations to the Divinity School of Chung Chi College at the Chinese University of Hong Kong on its 60th anniversary!

As colleagues and thought partners, we recognize and appreciate all that you do to promote theological education in Hong Kong, across Asia, and worldwide. We are honored to have had the opportunity to collaborate with CUHK and are inspired by the generosity of spirit and dedication of your community and leadership—including Dr. Francis Ching-Wah Yip, ThD’04, who is an alumnus of Harvard Divinity School. We look forward to more opportunities to come! We wish you many blessings as you celebrate this important milestone.

In fellowship,

Lori Stevens, Associate Dean for Development and External Relations, Harvard Divinity School

Congratulations on the 60th Anniversary of the Divinity
School of Chung Chi College!

On behalf of the Rev. Dr. Edgardo Colón-Emeric, Dean of Duke University Divinity School, I would like to share this congratulatory message from Duke Divinity School. Duke Divinity School is grateful for the academic and spiritual partnership with The Divinity School of Chung Chi College at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. May God continue to bless the Divinity School of Chung Chi College so that you can bless and serve the people of God around the world. We are looking forward to discerning and serving together with you for many years to come. We are also looking forward to walking together with you in this journey of solidarity, renewal, and unity, guided by the Holy Spirit. Congratulations again!

Congratulations on the 60th Anniversary of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College at The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Dear Professor Yip,

on behalf of the Department of Theology at the Faculty of Theology at the University of Zurich, I am congratulating your school on its 60th anniversary. The partnership between our schools has been beneficial and enriching to both sides and we are also very grateful to be partners in the Global Network of Research Centers for Theology, Religious and Christian Studies. In our encounters with your school, we have been impressed how your school combines the best from Eastern and Western intellectual traditions in its critical theological reflection and practice. It is a privilege for us to be connected to your school and we hope to deepen the links between our institutions in the years to come. We wish you a continuously flourishing academic life and a successful future.

Sincerely yours,

Prof. Dr. Konrad Schmid

Congratulations on the 60th Anniversary of the Divinity School of Chung Chi College!

“For 60 years, I have believed that the Divinity School of Chung Chi College at the Chinese University of Hong Kong has played a pivotal role of light and salt in the world and for the church.
